This is a very lovely slightly smaller format but thick coloring book based on the Psalms which is pre-set for gift-giving (the first page is a removable To/From page.) I definitely think it would be a very nice gift but I also am happy to pick it up for myself, too. The Psalms are where I go when I need to know how to express what is in my heart. The psalmist speaks of everything thing from the most glorious to the depth of the darkest hours. I have another coloring book based on the Psalms and it is quite different. The designs in the book are a wide variety from elegant to cute. Most do not have a particular Bible theme but will be very nice to color. Some of the designs have intricate and small details. The verses used in this book are from a variety of translations, including: New International Version, New Living Translation, and the New King James Version. The images used for the designs are licensed from Shutterstock.com which provides images for a number of other books, so a few of these designs may look familiar to colorists. The designs range from those which have verses to others which do not. The cover art is one of the designs in the book. There are certainly more without verses than with them. There are 60 full page designs and 27 of them have a verse incorporated into the design. There are, additionally, two pages of cards which can be colored and cut out. I'm not quite sure of the purpose of the cards but they are included. The designs are printed on one side only of heavyweight (almost cardstock) white paper. The paper is perforated and the binding is sewn in rather than glued. A number of the images extend beyond the perforation and a couple of parts of several are part of the design you would miss (pieces of a mirror image banner, etc).
