Customer Reviews

I have several books by Penny Farthing Graphics in my collection. They are published via CreateSpace which is generally used for self-publishing. The designs are drawn by a variety of artists from all over the world and are licensed via Shutterstock.com. What we end up with is a great coloring book (although on thin paper) with a large and varied selection of designs. Because Shutterstock licenses to others, it is possible that you may have seen a couple of these images in other books as well. The mandalas in this book are almost all circular in design (one has kind of a triangular look to it, but still has a number of circles within in. What I appreciate most about the designs in this book is that most of them have larger coloring areas which are easier to deal with. There are a couple which have small, intricate parts but for the most part, these should be easy and fun to color. I especially like using my fine and ultra-fine Sharpies with these. For the small and intricate spaces, I've recently starting using Uni-ball Signo in the 0.38 size and I have found it excellent for tiny details. All of the designs stop well before the binding. The designs are printed on one side of thin white non-perforated paper that is typical for books published by CreateSpace. The binding is glued but there is plenty of room for you to cut a page out if you choose to do so. All of my markers bleed through and my gel pens either bleed through or leave a distinct shadow on the back of the page. My coloring pencils work well with the paper and behave as expected for their lead time (hard/soft). I will use a piece of chipboard or heavy paper behind the page I am working on so I don't ruin the following page with leaking ink.
