This is a really lovely book of hand-drawn garden designs with a definite Asian flair. There are swans, koi fish, flowers, bonsai, fish paper lanterns and much more. I really enjoy Asian style designs and this book is filled with pages that I will want to color. I love the hand-drawn look over a realistic look. It gives me leeway to color the way I would like things to look versus trying to make the images look realistic. The designs in this book are detailed and some are quite intricate. I don't think that coloring will require extra tiny tips (like my Uni-ball Signo gel pens) but you will find that an ultra-fine tip might work best for some of the elements. I like to mix a variety of medium while I am coloring, so for me, this book will provide an opportunity to use most of my coloring tools. Some of the earlier Peter Pauper coloring books were by a variety of artists but this book focuses on only Trina Dalziel's work â “ a change in focus that I am really enjoying. I have now purchased several coloring books from this publisher that focus on a single artist and have seen that there will be a few more in the coming year. The pages are a heavyweight of bright white paper that is micro perforated. The designs are printed on one side of the page only and while most stop prior to the perforations, a few extend beyond it. The designs do not merge into the binding area; however, a number of design elements are cut off on the edges of the designs which leaves open-ended parts to the design. The paper is also acid-free which means that it will not turn colors with age and all the work you put into coloring the designs should be safe.
